United States Fire Administration

National Fire Academy

Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727-8998

Dear National Fire Academy Student:

Congratulations on being accepted into the U.S. Fire Administration/National Fire Academy's Fire Service Course Design (FSCD) - formerly Fire Service Course Development - class!

During your two weeks, you will develop a design for a complete course that can be used by you or other instructors in your department. Each unit in FSCD is designed to give you the knowledge and skills needed to develop effective and comprehensive course plans. Each day in class, you will receive assignments related to the design of your course. You will have the opportunity to work in various groups with other participants (who will be developing similar courses), to compare assignments, and to give each other constructive feedback.

The course requirements are divided into three main categories:
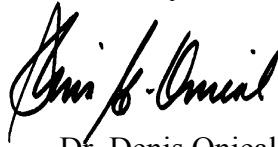

1. Requirements to be completed prior to arriving in class.
2. Requirements completed during class.
3. Requirements to be completed after class, within your organization, if necessary.

Each of these requirements must be completed before you receive a successful course completion certificate. A letter, which cites your in-class accomplishments, will be given to you at a graduation ceremony on the last day of class (second Friday of the class). Your certificate of course completion will be mailed to you upon completion of the post-course requirement. Projects that are not completed will result in course failure.

Increasingly, students and instructors are bringing laptop computers to campus. Although not required, you are encouraged to consider doing so. REMINDER: You alone are responsible for security and maintenance of your equipment. The Academy cannot provide you with computer software, hardware, or technical support to include disks, printers, scanners, etc. There are a limited number of 120 Volt AC outlets in the classrooms. A Student Word Processing Center is located in Building D and is available for all students to use. It is open daily with technical support provided in the evenings. This Center utilizes Windows 95 and Office 2000 as the software standard.

Please read carefully the enclosed information regarding each of these requirements. We are looking forward to having you in this course. Should you need additional information related to course content or requirements, please contact Mr. Gerry N. Bassett, Training Programs Curriculum Training Specialist, at (301) 447-1094 or email at gerry.bassett@fema.gov

Sincerely,

Dr. Denis Onieal

FIRE SERVICE COURSE DESIGN PROJECT

Overview

During this 2-week course, you will develop the framework for a complete course (not a lesson) that can be used by you or other instructors in your department. Each unit in Course Design is designed to give you the knowledge and skills needed to design and develop effective course materials. Each day in class, you will receive assignments related to the design of your course. During the course, you will have the opportunity to share your progress with other students in the class, comparing similar assignments and offering each other constructive feedback.

Please be aware that the course project is a design document with an outline only, containing course objectives, methods, media, content, etc. You will not be expected to develop complete lesson plans or course materials for a Student Manual as part of this project. You will be using your design document to prepare the lesson plans and course materials for your own purpose upon returning from the class.

Goals and Objectives

The goals of this course are for you to:

- Apply and use accepted standards and processing instructional design, and

- Develop a design document for your own course.

The information and experiences provided in this course will enable you to meet specific objectives. As a results, you will:

- Develop a comprehensive instructional design plan for a course needed in your local fire department or organization;

- Conduct a needs assessment based on information brought from your department;

- Conduct an analysis of the tasks involved in skills to be taught;

- Write a course goal and develop specific objectives for each unit based on criteria established by instructional design experts;

- Outline course content;

- Plan appropriate evaluation strategies and construct instruments to measure student progress, course effectiveness, and instructor performance;

- Select appropriate and effective instructional methods to facilitate achievement of objectives;

- Select or develop instructional materials and media to support the lessons.

Pre-Course Requirements

You will need to submit information from your local department or organization in order to complete the needs analysis (see attached Pre-Course Assignment). Follow the directions provided and send your pre-course worksheet to the NFA. You will not be able to start the program without submitting this information at least 4 weeks in advance.

You may want to bring to class an example of a course manual used by your department. The purpose of this is for your guidance regarding format/policy of your training materials, and to share with other class participants.

The topic for your course project should have a fairly narrow focus in order to be a workable size for the available class time. It should be a new course not a revision of an existing course. The course must be larger in scope than a lesson or unit, at least 2 days in length. FSCD is designed so that you will not need a computer to complete the worksheets. If you must work with a computer, then a computer lab is available on campus for your topic. You may also want to bring any materials that refer to the content of your topic. You are of course welcome to bring your personal computer for use in connection with the project. The Learning Resource Center on campus is also a good resource for fire, burn and injury materials.

The LRC now has an on-line service, which you can use at home to see what resources exist for your topic. The LRC on-line search can be found on the USFA home page at the following Internet address: http://www.usfa.fema.gov. Click on the Learning Resource Center found on the USFA home page to locate the on-line search.

In-Class Requirements

During the class, you will be able to complete the overall plan for the design of the course. After returning home, you will complete the project and send it to your assigned instructor within 6 months. Certificates of successful course completion will be awarded when the project is received, containing correct procedures as identified in class.

You will receive more complete details in class.

At times during the class, you will share your progress with students working on similar training programs. You will show the group your written work, discuss how and why you made the decision you did, and critique each other's work. At each step along the way, you also must obtain instructor feedback and approval. Time is built into the schedule for these activities. If you need additional help, evening sessions will be scheduled with the instructors. Laboratories and facilities useful in the completion of your project will be available to you at designated times.

Your project for your course will be submitted on Thursday of the second week of class. Your instructors will only be checking the correctness of each step in the project, not the completeness. For example, you may wish to write 10 of the 20 objectives for your course. You finish the rest after returning home from class. Remember, the project does not require development of instructor guides or student manuals. When you get to class, your instructors will provide you with a detailed list of requirements for each step in the project.

Post-course Requirements

After returning home, you will complete the project, including all the supporting materials needed, and send it to the National Fire Academy within 6 months. The development of lesson plans and course materials are not part of this project. Lesson plan writing takes too much time and each department will have its own requirements. You may work on the development of instructor guide and student manual following completion of the design or plan for your course. Final course certificates will be mailed after each instructor certifies successful completion of the final design project.

If, for any reason, you or your organization will not be able to provide the necessary support to complete this project following the class, we urge you to contact Gerry Bassett, Course Manager, at (301) 447-1094. You will be provided a one-time 30-day extension after written notification to Mr. Gerry Bassett.

PRE-COURSE ASSIGNMENT

I.

Please bring to class materials that may support the content of your course. During the course, you will be examining these materials. You will be able to obtain materials from the Learning Resource center on campus.

II.

Your pre-course assignment is to define a training need from which you could begin to develop a course. The training need must be acceptable to you and your department or organization. You must submit the training need you have identified and the data which supports your training decision to the National Fire Academy (see enclosed form). This will enable the Fire Academy to determine if you have understood the nature of needs assessment data collection. Your training need will also give the Fire Academy the flexibility to pre-group students by interest groups.

In order to attend this course, you must submit this Pre-Course Assignment to the National Fire Academy at least 1 month before the class. The Fire Academy will read your data. If you are not on track, you will be contacted by the Course Manager. The Academy will not contact students whose work is acceptable. This pre-course assignment will be given back to you to use in the class.

The needs assessment is the foundation from which all other work on your course design document is based. An insufficient training need usually causes problems for course developers. If you have been asked to make changes in your pre-course assignment, you must complete them before going to class.

This assignment may require about 1 day of your time in order for you to collect all the information you need to write your needs assessment.

III.

(Complete the pre-course worksheet and send it to the address at the bottom of the sheet at least 1 month before your course is scheduled to begin).

INSTRUCTIONS FOR DEVELOPING A NEEDS ASSESSMENT:

The purpose of the needs assessment is to identify a training need. Training is something one undertakes to close a gap between performance as it is and as one would like it to be. This sounds straightforward and simple. However, many of the needs which are defined as training needs can actually be solved by means other than training. Sometimes changes in equipment, personnel policies, or the environment--rather than training--can improve performance.

When you have successfully addressed the questions below, the basis of your needs assessment will be complete.

Use the following checklist only as a guide to complete your pre-course assignment worksheet.

1.   Have I interviewed my superiors to determine our most pressing training needs?

2.   Have I defined the audience for which this training will be developed; i.e.,

- target audience, by title
- educational level,
- area of interest; i.e., haz mat, suppression, arson, public education, etc.
- previous knowledge of the subject
- experience of subject area,
- rank?

3.   Have I interviewed members of the target audience for which I might be developing the training to see if such training is needed?

4.   Am I certain that the needs I have identified are actually training needs, or can they be better met by:

- changes in the work environment
- changes in the political climate
- changes in personnel policies

NOTE: It is very important that the need you identify be a training need. If you have doubts, check with your superiors and/or the National Fire Academy.

5.   Do I have facts and figures to support the need for developing these courses, such as:

- Have I looked at how personnel actually perform the task now?

- Have I identified what needs to be improved, i.e., time it takes to complete task, response time, greater accuracy, etc.?

- If knowledge needs to be improved, have I given tests or looked at test results to see what gaps exist in people's understanding of the subject?

- If this is a course revision, have I interviewed former students and instructors to learn how training needs have changed?

- Have I looked at safety records, (if our department keeps them) etc., to see if they support the need for training?

- Have I examined changes in equipment, procedures, or departmental mission that have created new training needs?

6. Have I included all supporting documentation of the need for these courses?

7. Have I checked the organization's policies and procedures regarding the topics for which I plan to develop training?

8. Do I have a clear idea of the tasks requiring training?

NOTE: This is only a checklist guide. You should determine what information is relevant to you; what is most important to your department. If you complete all of these, your needs assessment should be very strong, and the job of developing a good design document should be easier.

Do not do any further work on your project and try not to have any mindset of the course content, sequence, media, etc. You will have an opportunity to make decisions about your course at each step throughout the class.

PRE-COURSE ASSIGNMENT WORKSHEET

Please submit this form at least one month prior to start of your scheduled course. Use additional pages if needed. Please type if possible.

1.   The training need I have identified is:

2.   Write a paragraph or two defining the intended target audience. Include such information as title, rank, previous experience, educational level, etc. (See item #2 on checklist guide).

3.   List and submit the data you have collected to support your conclusion that this is a genuine training need for your department (see checklist, items 1,3, 5, 6, 7, and 8 for guidance).

Submit one month prior to beginning of course to:

FREQUENTLY ASKED REIMBURSEMENT QUESTIONS

1. Why must I be reimbursed electronically? Public Law 104-134 mandates that after January 1, 1999, all Federal payments shall be made by electronic funds transfer unless a waiver is obtained from the Secretary of the Treasury.

2. If my organization paid for my ticket, may I request that the reimbursement to go to them? No. Due to increased restrictions by the receiving financial institutions, we will only deposit money into an account bearing your name. It shall be your responsibility to reimburse your organization. This policy was effective on January 1, 2002.

3. What if I don't have a checking account? The money can be deposited into a savings account. You need to call the admissions office (301-447-1035) and we will send you a form to complete. If you don't have a checking or savings account, you MUST submit a letter stating that fact, and a check will be sent to your home address. However, your reimbursement will take longer (up to 12 weeks).

4. How will I know when it's deposited? The entry in an account may differ from bank to bank, but most likely it will be listed as "FED SALARY FEM2 TREAS" and will probably NOT have your name next to it.

5. How long will it take for me to receive reimbursement? The reimbursement should be made to your account no later than 6-8 weeks from the course start date. If after 8 weeks you still haven't received your reimbursement, please call the admissions office at (301) 447-1035 or email us at netc-admissions@fema.gov to check on the status of your claim.

6. Do I receive reimbursement for travel to and from airport or parking and shuttles? No, those expenses are part of the student's share of the stipend program.

7. Will I be reimbursed for my meals? No, that expense is also part of the student's share of the stipend program.

8. What information should I bring when driving my POV? You must show a picture ID, registration card, and have your odometer readings and license tag number PRIOR to receiving your room key. Some states do not require the registration to be in the vehicle. However, you must submit a copy of your POV registration to be eligible for a stipend.

9. What documentation do I need if I am driving my organizational vehicle and they want to be reimbursed for my mileage? In addition to the information listed in question #8, you also need a statement from your organization, on organization letterhead, stating that reimbursement is requested. If you carpool with another student, only one driver will be reimbursed. As stated in #2, the reimbursement will be made to your account, and it will be your responsibility to reimburse your organization.

10. What is the basis for the driving mileage allowance? Your reimbursement will be limited to the current POV Federal mileage allowance, or the state ceiling, WHICHEVER IS LESS. POV mileage is subject to validation.

11. What if I am submitting an electronic airline ticket? You must submit the itinerary invoice (listing the ticket number and showing that payment was made) at registration. If it does not identify that the ticket is non-refundable, you need to have the travel agency or airline provide you with documentation that the ticket is either non-refundable or the cheapest fare available at the time you purchased your ticket. If you do not provide the documentation to us, we will only reimburse you for the amount shown as your state's ceiling amount on the reverse of this page.

12. What do I need to provide if I take a side/extended trip? If the cost is less than your state's ceiling amount, you will be reimbursed for the cost of the ticket.. If the cost is higher than your state's ceiling amount, reimbursement will be limited to your state's ceiling amount.

13. What would delay my stipend being processed? Not having your airline ticket, itinerary with ticket number and payment made, POV information, request from your organization for reimbursement, or not having the appropriate direct deposit information. If you bank with a credit union, please have them confirm your routing and account numbers.

14. What would reduce my stipend claim? Your stipend might be reduced if you purchased a refundable ticket or did not ask for an exception prior to your course start date.

15. Will I be reimbursed for the airfare if frequent flyer miles are used? Frequent flyer miles cannot be reimbursed because it would not incur out-of-pocket expenses.
